Singh Ranjan & Co. aims to bridge this gap by providing targeted financial literacy programs that empower individuals with the knowledge to make informed decisions.

Moreover, the firm also encourages its employees to participate in mentoring programs, where senior professionals guide and mentor young students and aspiring professionals in the accounting and finance fields. These mentorship programs help students develop their professional skills and provide them with valuable industry insights, further enhancing their career prospects.

Environmental Initiatives

As part of its commitment to sustainability, Singh Ranjan & Co. has adopted several environmental initiatives aimed at reducing its carbon footprint and promoting eco-friendly practices within the organization. The firm believes that businesses have an essential role to play in preserving the environment, and it has incorporated sustainability into its day-to-day operations.

One of the primary steps taken by the firm has been the transition towards digital documentation. By reducing paper usage and relying on electronic records, Singh Ranjan & Co. has minimized its environmental impact, helping to conserve natural resources. The firm encourages clients and partners to adopt digital communication and file sharing practices, which helps to further reduce paper waste and increase overall operational efficiency.

In addition to reducing paper usage, Singh Ranjan & Co. promotes sustainability within the office environment. The firm has implemented various energy-efficient practices, such as:

PARTNERSHIP DEED

A partnership is a kind of business where a formal agreement between two or more people is made. They agree to be co-owners, distribute responsibilities for running an organisation and share the income or losses that the business generates. These features of partnerships are documented in a document which is known as partnership deed.

What is a Partnership Deed?

Partnership deed is a partnership agreement between the partners of the firm which outlines the terms and conditions of the partnership between the partners. The purpose of a partnership deed is to provide clear understanding of the roles of each partner, which ensures smooth running of the operations of the firm.

The Partnership comes into the limelight when:

- There is an outcome of agreement among the partners.
- The agreement can be either in written or oral form.
- The Partnership Act does not demand that the agreement has to be in writing. Wherever it is in the form of writing, the document, which comprises terms of the agreement is called 'Partnership Deed.'
- It usually comprises the attributes about all the characteristics influencing the association between the partners counting the aim of trade, the contribution of capital by each partner, the ratio in which the gains and losses will be divided by the partners and privilege and entitlement of partners to interest on loan, interest on capital, etc.

Partnership Deed Contents

While making a partnership deed, all the provisions and the legal points of the partnership deed are included. This deed also includes basic guidelines for future projects and can be used as evidence at times of conflict or legal procedures. For a general partnership deed, the below mentioned information should be included.

- Name of the firm as determined by all partners.

- Name and details of all the partners of the firm.
- The date on which business commenced.
- Firm’s existence duration.
- Amount of capital contributed by each partner.
- Profit sharing ratio between the partners.
- Duties, obligations and power of each partner of the firm.
- The salary and commission if applicable that is payable to partners.
- The process of admission or retirement of a partner.
- The method used for calculating goodwill.
- The procedure that must be followed in cases of dispute arising between partners.
- Procedure for cases where a partner becomes insolvent.
- Procedure for settlement of accounts in the event of dissolution of a firm.

How to prepare a partnership deed in India?

When registering a partnership firm in India for startups, there are some basics that need to be covered. Partnership and proprietorship are the two most popular forms of business organisations in India. The reason why these two forms of organisations are so popular is because they are relatively easy to set-up and the number of statutory compliance requirements needing to be followed by these forms of organisations is relatively less than the statutory compliance requirements applicable to LLP's and companies. As such, this article focuses on the registration process for the partnership firm.

Choose a partnership name: The partners are free to choose any name as they desire for their partnership firm subject to the following rules:

- The names must not be too identical or similar to the name of another existing firm doing similar business, so as to avoid confusion. The reason for this rule being that the reputation or goodwill of a firm may be injured, if a new firm could adopt an allied name.
- The name must not contain words like Crown, Emperor, Empress Empire or words expressing or implying the sanction, approval of patronage of the Government, except when the State Government signifies its consent (in writing) to the use of such words as part of the firm name.

Create a Partnership Deed:

The document in which the respective rights and obligations of the members of a partnership is written is called the Partnership Deed. A partnership deed agreement may be written or oral. However, practically an oral agreement does not have any value for tax purposes and therefore the partnership agreement should be written. The following are the essential characteristics of a partnership deed:

- Name and address of the firm as well as all the partners.
- Nature of business to be carried on.
- Date of commencement of business.
- Duration of partnership (whether for a fixed period/project).
- Capital contribution by each partner.

- Profit sharing ratio among the partners.
- The above are the minimum essentials which are required in all partnership deeds.

Consider whether additional clauses are needed:

The partners may also mention any additional clauses. Some of the examples of additional clauses which may be mentioned in the partnership deed are mentioned below:

- Interest on the partner's capital, partners' loan, and interest, if any, to be charged on drawings.
- Salaries, commissions etc., if any, payable to partners.
- Method of preparing accounts and arrangement for audit. ➤ Division of task and responsibility, namely, the duties, powers and obligations of all the partners.
- The rules to be followed in case of retirement, death and admission of a partner.

Do the partnership deed in the appropriate form:

The deed so created by the partners should be on a stamp paper in accordance with the Indian Stamp Act. Each partner should have a copy of the partnership deed. A Copy of the Partnership Deed should also be filed with the Registrar of Firms in case the firm is being registered.

Decide whether or not to register the partnership firm:

Partnerships in India are governed by the Indian Partnership Act, 1932.As per the Partnership Act, registration of partnership firms is optional and is entirely at the discretion of the partners. The Partners may or may not register their Partnership Agreement. However, in the case where the partnership deed is not registered, the partners may not be able to enjoy the benefits which a registered partnership firm enjoys.

- Registration of a partnership firm may be done before starting the business or anytime during the continuance of partnership. However, where the firm intends to file a case in the court to enforce rights arising from the contract, the registration should be done before filing the case.

Register:

The procedure for registration of a partnership firm in India is fairly simple/An application and the prescribed fees are required to be submitted to the Registrar of Firms of the State in which the firm is situated. The following documents are also required to be submitted along with the application:

- Application for Registration of Partnership in Form No. 1.
- Duly filled specimen of Affidavit.
- Certified True Copy of the Partnership Deed.

- Ownership proof of the principal place of business or rental/lease agreement thereof.

Sign the application:

The application or statement must t signed by all the partners, or by their agents especially authorised in this behalf.

Expect the registration process to proceed formally:

When the registrar is satisfied with the points stated in the partnership deed, he or she shall record an entry of the statement in a register called the Register of Firms and issue a Certificate of Registration. The Register of Firms maintained at the office of the Registrar contains complete and up-to-date information about each registered firm.

- This Register of Firms is open to inspection by any person on payment of the prescribed fees; any person interested in viewing the details of any firm can request the Registrar of Firms for the same and on payment of the prescribed fees, a copy of all details of the firm registered with the Registrar will be given to the applicant.

Be registered for tax:

It should be noted that registration with the Registrar of Firms is different from registration with the Income Taxation Department. It is mandatory for all firms to apply for registration with the Income Tax Department and have a PAN Card. After obtaining a PAN Card, the partnership firm is required to open a Current Account in the name of the partnership firm and to operate all its operations through this bank account.

TAX DEDUCTED AT SOURCE(TDS)

Tax deducted at source (TDS) is a tax that is deducted from income that a company in India pays to a recipient or supplier if the income amount exceeds a specific statutory limit in a financial year. The types of income that are subject to TDS include:

- Salary
- Interest and dividends.
- Winnings from the lottery
- Insurance commission
- Rent
- Fees from professional and technical services
- Payments to contractors and subcontractors.

The withholding amounts for TDS can be deducted from an invoice submitted by a supplier or from the payment that is issued to the recipient or supplier. Examples of recipients and suppliers include contractors, providers of professional services, employees, and real estate landlords. Companies submit a TDS certificate to each supplier on a monthly or yearly basis. The certificate includes the payments, as well as information about the company and supplier. Companies must also submit an annual return to the government for each recipient or supplier for the financial year. TDS certificate can be either Form 16 (R75110A) or Form 26Q-P2P-IND (R751122EQ). Form 16 is the TDS certificate which an individual submits and Form 26Q is the TDS certificate which a company submits to the tax authorities.

TDS must also be deducted from payments issued to third parties by both corporate and no corporate entities. The entity must deposit the amount owed for withholding at any of the designated branches of banks that are authorized to collect taxes on behalf of the government of India. The entity must also submit the TDS returns, which contain details about the payments and the challan for the tax deposited to the Income Tax Department (ITD).

TDS RETURNS:

TDS is a system whereby the income tax is deducted at the time of making some payments like rent, interest, commission etc. The person making such specified payments is responsible for deducting the TDS and paying the balance amount to the person entitled to receive such payment. The TDS amount deducted must be deposited to the government within the due dates specified by the person deducting TDS. While it is commonly assumed that the TDS is applicable only on salary income, but it is also applicable in many other cases such as:

- Income from interest on securities and debentures
- Income from interest other than those on securities
- Income from dividends
- Income from withdrawal of EPF (Before expiry of a certain period or if amount withdrawn is beyond the limit specified)
- Payment to contractors/subcontractors/freelancers
- Winnings from horse races, lottery, crossword puzzles or any game related wins
- Income from rendering technical or professional services
- Income from royalty, etc.

All income is taxable only at the end of the financial year, hence the government has instituted the concept of TDS, in order to ensure:

- Prevention of tax evasion: This mechanism ensures that the government collects a portion of the income itself, chances of hiding income or tax defaults are minimized significantly.
- Timely collection of tax.
- Ease in filing tax returns: As the tax is automatically collected and deposited with the concerned authorities by the deductor, it becomes easier for individuals to file their returns. If there are no other sources of income for a person, once TDS has been appropriately deducted, they need not pay any additional tax during return filing.

PROCESS FLOW OF TDS:

This process flow shows the steps to charge and remit TDS:-

Create vouchers for suppliers with pay status % and applicable tax type

Calculate TDS on vouchers

Issue payments to suppliers with TDS amounts deducted

Submit monthly payment for TDS to tax authority

Update Challan

Generate monthly statements and submit quarterly and annual returns

TOPIC – TAXATION

- Tax

  Taxes are mandatory contributions levied on individuals or corporations by a government entity—whether local, regional, or national. Tax revenues finance government activities, including public works and services such as roads and schools, or programs such as Social Security and Medicare.

  In economics, taxes fall on whoever pays the burden of the tax, whether this is the entity being taxed, such as a business, or the end consumers of the business's goods. From an accounting perspective, there are various taxes to consider, including payroll taxes, federal and state income taxes, and sales taxes.

- Types of Taxes

  The tax structure in India is a three-tier structure: local municipal bodies, state, and central government. Taxation in India is broadly classified into:

a) Direct
b) indirect tax

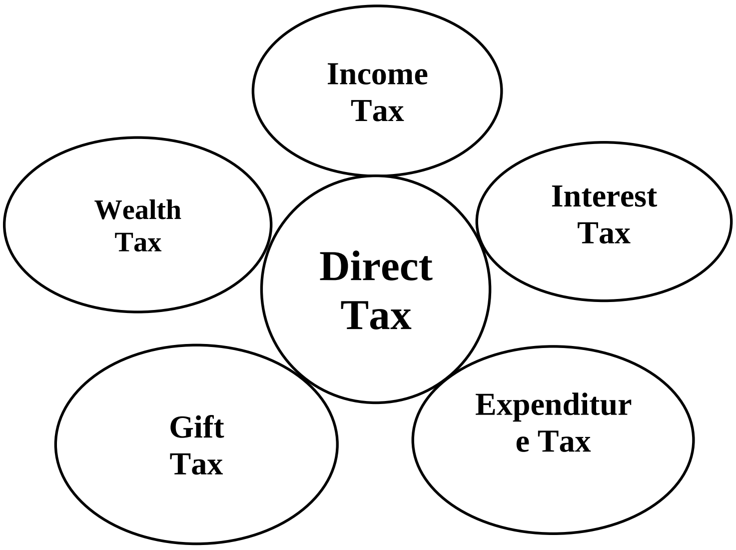
There are several very common types of taxes:

- Income tax—A percentage of generated income that is relinquished to the state or federal government.
- Payroll tax—A percentage withheld from an employee's pay by an employer, who pays it to the government on the employee's behalf to fund Medicare and Social Security programs.
- Corporate tax—A percentage of corporate profits taken as tax by the government to fund federal programs.
- Sales tax—Taxes levied on certain goods and services; varies by jurisdiction.
- Property tax—Based on the value of land and property assets.
- Tariff—Taxes on imported goods; imposed with the aim of strengthening domestic businesses.
- Estate tax—Rate applied to the fair market value (FMV) of property in a person's estate at the time of death; the total estate must exceed thresholds set by state and federal governments.
- Tax systems vary widely among nations, and it is important for individuals and corporations to carefully study a new locale's tax laws before earning income or doing business there.

DIRECT TAX

Direct tax is levied on people's income or profits. For example, a taxpayer pays the government for different purposes, including income tax, personal property tax, FBT, etc. The burden has to be borne by the person on whom the tax is levied and cannot be passed on to someone else. Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) governs and administers the Direct Tax.

- Financial Year- The financial year is a period of 12 months starting from 1st April of the same year & ending 31st March, the accounting year in which income is earned.
- Assessment Year- The assessment year is the year succeeding the financial year, in which the income earned in the financial year is taxed, assessed & return is filed.



Income Tax

Income tax is a tax charged on the annual income of an individual or business earned in a financial year. The Income Tax system in India is governed by The Income Tax Act, 1961, which lays out the rules and regulations for income tax calculation, assessment, and collection. All taxpayers are mandated to submit an Income Tax Return (ITR) every year by respective due dates as per the law to report their income and claim a tax refund if applicable. An income tax return can be filed online or offline on the Income Tax Department's official website or through verified third-party websites.

The Indian Income Tax system also includes various deductions and exemptions that can be used to lower the tax liability for a given financial year.

There are 5 different heads of income sources for tax:

- Salary
- House Property
- Profit & Gains from Business & Profession
- Capital Gains
- Other Sources

  Any individual earning more than ₹ 2.5 lakh annually in a financial year is required to pay income tax to the Government of India. Here are the different types of taxpayers in India:

- What is an Income tax slab?

  In India, individuals are required to pay income tax according to the tax slab their income falls within. These slabs delineate various income ranges, each associated with a specific tax rate, which escalates as income rises. This slab-based approach was devised to establish an equitable tax framework across the country. Adjustments to the income tax slabs are typically made during the budget announcements. Income tax is categorised into three distinct age-based groups

  - Individuals younger than 60 years,
  - Senior citizens aged between 60 and 80 years,
  - Super senior citizens aged over 80 years.

- What are income tax slabs announced in the new tax regime in Budget 2024?

- Benefits and drawbacks of New Tax Regime

  Choosing between India's new and old tax regimes involves weighing their respective advantages and disadvantages against your financial habits, income level, and investment strategy. Here's a breakdown to help guide your decision.

- Benefits of the New Tax Regime:

- Simplified Tax Process: With fewer deductions and exemptions, the new regime streamlines tax filing, benefiting those overwhelmed by the complexity of the old regime.
- Reduced Tax Rates: For individuals earning up to Rs. 7 lakhs, the new regime often provides lower tax rates, potentially increasing your net income.
- Tax Rebate Advantage: Earnings up to Rs. 7 lakhs qualify for a full tax rebate, resulting in zero tax liability under the new regime.

- Enhanced Liquidity: The absence of compulsory tax-saving investments increases available cash for other financial purposes.

- Drawbacks of the New Tax Regime:

- Loss of Deductions and Exemptions: Opting for the new regime means missing out on several key deductions and exemptions (e.g., HRA, LTA), which could raise your taxable income.
- Reduced Financial Planning Flexibility: The elimination of deductions limits opportunities to strategically lower your tax obligations through targeted investments and expenditures.
- Potentially Higher Taxes for Higher Earners: Individuals with incomes over Rs. 10 lakhs might find themselves subject to higher taxes under the new regime, especially when including surcharges on incomes above Rs. 5 crores.
- Disadvantages for Long-Term Savers: The new regime may not suit those who depend on tax- saving investments for wealth accumulation, as it excludes these benefits.

- Additional Considerations:

- Regime Switching Flexibility: Taxpayers have the annual option to choose between regimes at tax filing, offering a chance to adjust as financial circumstances change.
- Careful Comparison is Key: Evaluating your tax obligations under both regimes can clarify which option minimises your tax liability, with tools like online tax calculators providing assistance.
- Plan According to Future Financial Goals: Consider potential income growth and investment objectives in your regime choice.
- Seek Professional Advice: A tax advisor can offer tailored recommendations, ensuring your tax strategy aligns with your overall financial landscape.

INDIRECT TAX

An indirect tax is collected by one entity in the supply chain, such as a manufacturer or retailer, and paid to the government. However, the tax is passed onto the consumer by the manufacturer or retailer as part of the purchase price of a good or service. The consumer is ultimately paying the tax by paying more for the product.

Types of Indirect Tax

- Service Tax
- Excise Tax
- Stamp Duty
- Value Added Tax
- Custom Duty
- Entertainment
- Goods and Service Tax

Goods and Service Tax

GST is one indirect tax for the whole nation, which will make India one unified common market. GST is a single tax on the supply of goods and services. GST is a destination-based tax that is levied only on value addition at each stage because credits of input taxes paid at the procurement of inputs will be available. Thus, the final consumer will bear only the GST charged by the last dealer in the supply chain, with set-off benefits at all the previous stages.

- What taxes will be levied under GST?

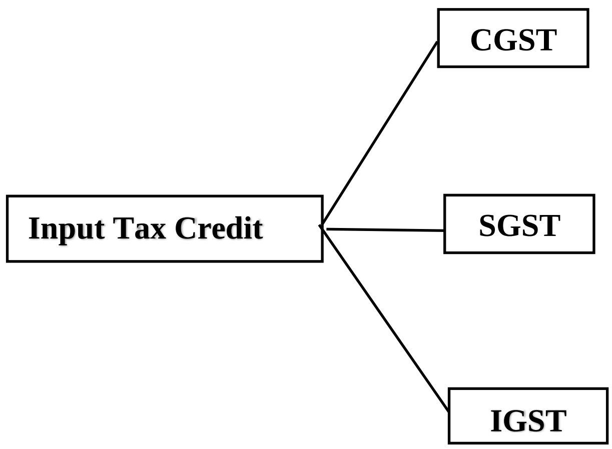
Since India is a federal country, Centre Government and State Government both have powers to levy taxes. Under GST regime, the Centre and State both have the power to levy GST. Therefore, GST in India is divided into two parts:

- Central GST (CGST)
- State GST (SGST)

GST will be divided into two components, one is CGST which is levied by Central Government and other is SGST which is levied by State Government.



However, there will be one more type of GST is Integrated GST (IGST). IGST will be levied on inter-state transactions. Since there are chances that people will get confused in case of transactions between two persons of two different States and there will be difficulty setting off dues of taxes between two States, thus IGST will be levied by the Centre. Now, the Centre will apportion the State's portion of GST from IGST to the relevant State.

GOODS & SERVICES TAX (GSTR)

A GST return is a document containing details of all income/sales and/or expenses/purchases that a GST-registered taxpayer (every GSTIN) is required to file with the tax administrative authorities. This is used by tax authorities to calculate net tax liability.

Under GST, a registered dealer has to file GST returns that broadly include:

- Purchases
- Sales
- Output GST (On sales)
- Input tax credit (GST paid on purchases)

To file GST returns or for GST filings, check out the Clear GST software that allows the import of data from various ERP systems such as Tally, Busy, custom Excel, to name a few. There is also the option to use the desktop app for Tally users to directly upload data and file.

- Types of GSTR

Under the GST system, there are different types of GSTR that businesses need to file based on the nature of their operations. The various types of GSTR are:

- GSTR-1: The Goods and Services Tax Return 1 (GSTR 1) is a document that every registered taxpayer must submit on a monthly or quarterly basis. So, what is GSTR 1? It should include details of all sales and supplies of goods and services made by the taxpayer during the tax period. GSTR 1 plays a crucial role in the GST framework by providing a summary of outward supplies. However, this return does not apply to composition vendors, non-resident foreign taxpayers, and individuals with a Unique Identification Number.

- GSTR-2A: This is a system-generated read-only return, which is auto-populated based on the information furnished by the suppliers in their GSTR-1. Taxpayers can view and verify their inward supplies (purchases) from registered suppliers using GSTR-2A.

- GSTR-2B: This is an auto-generated read-only GST return in India. It offers businesses a summarised view of their inward supplies, including purchases from registered suppliers and imports. It helps in reconciling data and verifying input tax credit (ITC) claims.

- GSTR-3: This is also an auto-generated return that is based on the information provided in GSTR-1 and GSTR-2. It is a summary of outward and inward supplies and the tax liability for the tax period. However, GSTR-3 has also been suspended since July 2017.

- GSTR-3B: This is a summary return that businesses need to file on a monthly basis. It requires a summary of outward supplies, inward supplies, input tax credit (ITC) claimed, and the amount of tax paid.

- GSTR-4: Small taxpayers who have opted for the composition scheme need to file GSTR-4. This return requires businesses to provide a quarterly summary of their outward supplies and tax payable.

- GSTR-5: Non-resident taxpayers who are conducting business in India and are required to pay GST on their supplies need to file GSTR-5. It contains details of their outward supplies and tax liability.

- GSTR-6: This return is for input Service distributors (ISD) who distribute the credit of GST paid on input services to their branches or units. It involves providing details of input tax credit distributed and received.

- GSTR-7: Businesses that are required to deduct tax at source (TDS) need to file GSTR-7. It includes details of TDS deducted, TDS liability, and the TDS paid.

- GSTR-8: This is for e-commerce operators who are required to collect tax at source (TCS). It contains information about the supplies made through their platform and the TCS collected.

- GSTR-9: This is an annual return that provides a comprehensive summary of all GST transactions made during the financial year. It includes details from GSTR-1, GSTR-3B, and GSTR-2A.

- GSTR-9A: Similar to GSTR-9, GSTR-9A is for businesses registered under the composition scheme. It involves providing an annual summary of all transactions.

- GSTR-9C: This is a reconciliation statement that needs to be filed along with GSTR-9. It is certified by a chartered accountant or cost accountant and ensures the accuracy of the annual return.

- GSTR-10: This is a GST return filed by businesses whose GST registration has been cancelled or surrendered. It is a final return that summarises the details of closing stock and liabilities at the time of cancellation.

- GSTR-11: On a quarterly basis, unique identity number (UIN) holders need to file GSTR-11, which documents the details of the inward supply of goods or services or both they have received.

- Who should file GST returns?

  GST returns are documents that contain the details of income, purchases, sales, output GST, and input tax credit of a registered dealer under the GST regime. Filing GST returns is mandatory for all registered dealers, regardless of their turnover or profit. GST returns help the government to monitor the tax compliance and revenue collection from different sectors and regions. GST returns also help the dealers to claim input tax credit and avoid double taxation.

  There are different types of GST returns for different categories of dealers, such as regular, composition, non-resident, e-commerce, TDS, etc. The frequency and due dates of filing GST returns vary depending on the type of return and the nature of business. Some GST returns are monthly, some are quarterly, and some are annual. The GST portal provides the facility to file GST returns online using various forms and tools. Filing GST returns on time is essential to avoid penalties and interest charges.

- Documents required

  To accurately file GSTR, businesses need to maintain and provide certain documents like:

  - Invoices: Invoices issued for outward supplies need to be recorded and matched with the details provided in GSTR-1.
  - Invoices received: Businesses need to keep track of the invoices received for inward supplies to claim ITC.
  - Bills of entry: For importers, bills of entry for imported goods are essential to claim ITC on customs duty paid.
